

4.2 General

This section describes initialization and introspection functions. All applications wishing to use MRAPI functionality must use the initialization and finalization routines. Following initialization, the introspection functions can provide important information to MRAPI-based applications.